Dr. Leyk is great. Her lectures can feel a bit slow at times, but she keeps you engaged by asking questions and sometimes having students demonstrate topics. There's a group-based quiz each lecture, so attendance matters. Exams are fair if you understand the material, and the TAs are very helpful. Overall, I would recommend her.

Her lectures were not helpful at all, and didn't respond to any of my emails. Looks too old to be teaching, kinda feel bad for her tbh. As for the course, its structured so that an A or B is very doable if you pay attention during the labs and do your work on time. She teaches most of the sections, so there isn't much of a choice, just be prepared Chaotic neutral teacher. She cares, but is a little scary sometimes. Got a pop homework due the day-of that ruined the class's weekend plans. Daily quizzes, and somewhat consistent schedule. She has also canceled/moved around appointments, so careful. All in all, if you pay attention, good prof/class. TAs carry the actual assignments.

She's good when materials are discussed 1 to 1 in her office hours (hence a 2 instead of a 1), but for the rest, I just couldn't click with her. Dr. Leyk was a good professor! I felt like the end of the semester went by a bit fast, but overall the pacing was good. The quizzes can be pretty challenging, but there's so many of them that few bad ones won't affect too much. Make sure to go to lectures as the quizzes are given out in class. Start on PAs early!!!

Leyk is a good prof, but her lectures can definitely be hard to follow. The saving grace is how generous she is with extra credit: just show up to her office hours after an exam, and she'll give you back enormous points. TAs are a fantastic resource for the PAs; pop quizzes basically every day in class, so be sure to pay attention.

This class is very doable, however her lectures can be difficult. To get an A, you must study her lectures outside of class and possibly use some extra materials. The lectures are required since there are quizzes. The labs are very helpful and also required. If you have perfect lab attendance, 2 points are added to your semester average.

I'm going to be honest, as a Teacher, I don't feel like she was that good but her TAs were her saving grace. Dr. Leyk was a solid professor for DSA. My only complaint is that it feels like she rushed through graphs at the end of the semester. The in-class quizzes are very hit or miss, but there's so many that a few bad grades won't hurt you. The PAs are straight forward. For the tests, watch the TA review video and understand the HW and you'll be set!

She made it really hard to want to attend the lecture. There were things that we were expected to know that were never outlined. The grading criteria was the worst thing for me- they would either change last minute or would be so unclear that I missed points for things I didn't know were a requirement. Would definitely not take for this class.
